In 1970, Frank Landrey returned from Europe with some Italian candies he had received as a gift. He gave the box of candy to his children. Soon, all the neighborhood kids were pestering him for more of "that funny fizzy candy!" At the time, Frank was in the habit of saying, "Don't give me the Zotz." The name stuck, and the first order of ZOTZ candy was shipped in July 1970. Now, over fifty fizzy years later, ZOTZ is still going strong, and is still made in the same small factory in Italy.
